

IICD is a non-profit foundation that specialises in information and communication technology (ICT) as a tool for development.

IICD is active in Africa and Latin America where we bring about technical and social innovations that create and enhance development opportunities in education, governance, livelihoods, health and the environment.

For maximum impact we work closely with partners from the public, private and non-profit sectors.

Our aim is to help our local partners – teachers, farmers, health workers, local government officials and civil servants - to formulate and implement their own ICT-supported development policies and programmes.

More about IICD: www.iicd.org

To strengthen our Country Program team we are searching for a:

Technical Adviser

The Technical Adviser (TA) is an ICT expert who contributes to the integration of ICT in Development programmes in various countries supported by IICD. The TA provides expertise in ICT for Development (ICT4D) tools, processes, technologies and strategies.

Summary of key responsibilities

- Contribute to IICD's technical innovation process, strategy and methodologies;
- Coordinate technical and training activities with the Country Managers in all assigned countries;
- Identify and establish an effective pool of local technical advisers and trainers (individuals or companies) which are to assist in providing advice and training for local partner organisations;
- Contribute to improving the competences of local technical advisers and trainers through support, advice and coaching on effective advisory and training methodologies and materials;
- Advise, design, implement and update technical seminars together with local partners;
- Seek synergies in technical experience and expertise across countries in the region;
- Contribute to the performance and exchange of experiences within Regional Teams;
- Contribute to the generation and dissemination of lessons learned by IICD.

Summary of Experience

As a qualified candidate for this challenging and exciting position you should have at least 7 years experience in providing ICT program advice or training and have working experience in developing countries.

Must have:

- University Level in IT, ICT Development or related fields;
- Up-to-date knowledge and working experience in a range of capacity development approaches;
- Proving experience in conducting and coordinating training programmes;
- Experience in project management and in training;
- Living in The Netherlands, in possession of a Dutch working permit;
- Highly organised, able to work in a fast-paced, inter-disciplinary and multicultural work environment;
- Ability to communicate effectively with a wide range of stakeholders;
- Self-motivated with proven commitment to continuous learning and self-development;
- Willingness to travel.

Required Knowledge, Skills and Abilities

- High degree of professional versatility and hands-on attitude and approach;
- Ability to think and act strategically while possessing the managerial skills to enable the "hands-on" execution of projects;
- Shows high standards of commitment, trust, openness, respect, authenticity and transparency in working relations;
- Excellent spoken and written English. In addition French or Spanish is required.

We offer:

- Competent work environment with room for personal development and initiative;
- International working environment.

To apply please email your Cover Letter plus CV to:

Miss F. Alvarez (Sr. HR Adviser) at vacancy@iicd.org

For more information concerning the position, please contact:

Miss F. Alvarez +31 (0)70- 311 73 11

Closing date:

February 12th 2012